

Sinclair Broadcasting:

We get enough managed news and opinion from this administration and its lapdog congress - we don't need any more from mainstream media.

The first thing of value a democracy loses is it's sense of fairness. To my mind, we're almost there. And if you cannot look to your own government to show and demand fairness, where can we look?

Thank you.

Herb from Texas